

I'm so excited.

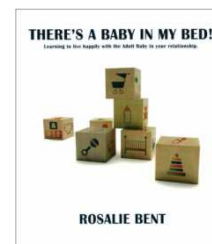

We are just so excited to announce what so many of you have been asking for - a website that provides information, help and advice on managing the trials, tribulations and essential joy of being an adult baby!

At www.abdiscovery.com.au we have commenced the task of producing 14 downloadable sessions that will help all adult babies and diaper lovers to understand more about themselves and what is happening inside.

These discovery sessions are designed to help you discover the adult baby within you. It isn't just for adult babies themselves, but also for spouses, partners, family and friends. But they are designed largely for you - the adult baby - as you live with and often struggle with, the strong drives and needs within.

We also have downloadable copies of "There's a Baby in My bed", the acclaimed book for relationships with adult babies. A 40 page free sample download is also available.

If you are the parent of a teenager wearing diapers there is no better place to start than to read the 36 page book "So your Teenager wears diapers..."
