Our first Session - The Three-sided Nature of Diaper Attraction- is still available and receiving praise for its insightful view on the complex and at times, incomprehensible attraction to diapers. You will enjoy the 56 minute video, the 30 page article and even the homework assignment designed to stimulate your own thinking on how your diaper attraction functions!

We are very excited about our next session – “Infantile Regression: Nature’s Time Travel”. In this soon-to-be-released session we discuss what regression is and how it works as well as ask the question about where it came from as children. We also venture into the more difficult issue of how to handle it when it gets out of control. Come and join us for this fascinating and controversial journey.
